

You're not the only parent who searches “pediatric therapist near me” at 2am

You know your child better than anyone. When it's hurt feelings or a scraped knee, you're the first and best person to care for them. But when it comes to things like depression, anxiety, ADHD, OCD, or autism, it's easy to feel unsure of how to help.

It's also really hard to recognize — and sometimes, admit — that something feels off.

But when the right help is within reach, the weight starts to lift. And from the moment you connect with Brightline, you'll feel that. (This is where things start to get better.)

Brightline's pediatric clinical team takes the chaos, the noise, your questions, and doubts, and uses them to clear a path that makes sense for your family. It's based on what you need and what they know will start to work right away.

Their expert clinicians have real-world expertise, and they use proven research to guide you towards real, lasting progress through:

- Psychological testing (for things like ADHD, learning differences, autism, etc.)
- Diagnostic evaluation and feedback sessions
- Care planning
- Identifying barriers and defining the right care path
- Building trusted relationships with kids and caregivers

What you're going through may be new to you, but it's not new to them. When you know it's time, Brightline is the right place.
